Location of available utilities (hookups or access);

Location of well and septic system;

Location and description of any business signs

NOTE: For final Site Plan Approval, the Planning Board or Board Of Appeals may require the submission of additional information drawn from the list in Section 608.1 of the Town of Eaton Land Use Law. When the property location does not pose problems for existing neighboring uses; when care is taken in the site design; and when the site does not have serious physical shortcomings; then smaller scale development projects stand a reasonable chance of receiving such Site Plan Approval upon the Planning Board's or Board of Appeal's consideration of a preliminary site plan containing only the above information and the SEQR EAF mentioned below -- typically after a single Planning Board or Board of Appeals meeting. Larger projects or those proposed for environmentally sensitive land will typically require submission of some or all of the items listed in Section 608.1, in addition to the above site plan material. The applicant may either submit all the information listed in Section 608.1 in the initial submission with the application or submit initially only the preliminary site plan and the SEQR EAF; the first alternative might allow a faster decision by the Planning Board/Board of Appeals, while the second might save the applicant the cost of preparing material the Boards would not have required.

Complete part 1 of the Environmental Assessment Form required under the State Environmental Quality Review Act (SEQR).

NOTE: If the Planning Board, on reviewing the Environmental Assessment form; finds a significant adverse impact that may result from the project, it must require completion of an Environmental Impact Statement, done to its satisfaction, before deciding on the permit application.

Town of Eaton NY – Zoning Board of Appeals

Application for an AREA Variance

The Five Factors

When considering whether to grant an area variance, a Zoning Board of Appeals must balance the benefit to the applicant weighed against the detriment to the health, safety, and welfare of the community by such grant. This is done through the consideration, weighing, and balancing of the Five Factors, and no others. These factors are uniform across NYS Zoning Boards of Appeals. Applicants must address the benefit of granting the variance against the impacts on the community.

To be completed by the Applicant:

- 1. If this variance is granted, will it produce an undesirable change in the character of the neighborhood or will it create a detriment to nearby properties? Yes or No?
 - a. Explain Why or Why not?

- 2. Can the benefit sought by the applicant be achieved by some other feasible method that would not require a variance? Yes or No
 - a. Explain Why or Why not?

- 3. Is the requested area variance substantial (A significant numerical deviation from the present zoning ordinance) ? Yes or No?
 - a. Explain Why or Why not?

- 4. Will the requested variance have an adverse effect or impact on the physical or environmental conditions in the neighborhood or district? Yes or No?
 - a. Explain Why or Why not?

- 5. Is the alleged difficulty requiring a need for a variance self-created? Yes or No?
 - a. Explain Why or Why not?

In the case of an Area Variance – the applicant does not have to satisfy all five of the above “tests”. The ZBA has to consider all five issues, but it then has to use its collective judgment to weigh the applicant’s potential gain against the neighborhood’s potential loss.
